

To Return or Not to Return

By Sydney Srinivas

Chandana TV has been presenting special features on culture and life of Indians in Australia , on the life and achievements of well known personalities and the one on debut of an Indian Dancer to mention a few. Based on the success of these, Chandana now wants to broaden its horizons and produce many more interesting programs. Among them is "To Return or Not to Return" which has been produced by Sydney Srinivas.

Goes to air from 22-2-2009 1-30pm

The program considers one of the issues that Indians in Australia face. We have been migrating to Australia and settling here for many years. Most of us feel that this is our home. But India has progressed enormously during these years. Industry, IT and other developments have put India right on par with leading countries in the world. A natural question that comes up is – Should we return to India? The program addresses this question and is based on interviews with people in Sydney. Many interesting questions have come up and the answers are equally interesting.

People from all walks of life and all age groups have expressed their opinion. Is the answer straight forward as the question? Is it complex? Watch this program and find out what your friends have to say.
